

The colors used in chakra fire are VERY specific to have the maximum healing and transformative effect. Just imagining any old red will not have the same results. The photographs of the Imagem below are intended to demonstrate the proper colors.

Imagem are the creation of Diana Anastazia, the founder of Open Heart Messages. They serve as reminders to be open-hearted, speak your truth, stay in your heart, etc. as well as to anchor healing and angelic energy here on earth. Each Imagem is one of a kind, exquisite, signed art glass with the imprints of an open heart and an arch. The latter imprint reminds us to make connections and when paired with another Imagem, creates a circle just as each us is part of the greater whole. Each Imagem is named and has a meaning.

Imagem are NOT required to use chakra fire. I simply use them here to beautifully illustrate the colors rather than a generic color sample. That said, each Imagem is quite magical and those who are energy sensitive can feel the vibration of its given chakra when holding one. Because each one is glass and imbued with special energy, they never need to be cleared because they cannot be contaminated by negative energy.
